Upon analysis of the entrepreneurial dimension in the building and construction sector, it has been ascertained that a great number of entrepreneurs do not have the economic and financial capacity to be legally incorporated as companies. However, many of these professional individuals have experience in running small businesses in the building and construction sector and are therefore able to carry out small contracts and other works in a very efficient manner.

Aware of this reality, the Ministry of Infrastructures wishes to give these professionals the possibility to take part in public procurement tenders in order to carry out contracts and other works of a lower value, as a way to meet the current needs for the creation of self-employment, on the one hand, and, on the other, as a way to promote entrepreneurial growth in Timor-Leste in the building and construction sector.

The present legal diploma shall create a special regime for the registration and filing of individual entrepreneurs in different professional areas of the building and construction sector. At the same time, conditions shall be created for those who do not possess professional certification to be able to obtain such certification by way of specific vocational training courses in the area of the building and construction sector promoted by the Ministry of Infrastructures, in a solution that is more suitable to the current reality of Timor-Leste and to the needs of the civil construction industry in the country.

The Government hereby decrees, within the scope of the provisions set out in sub-paragraph e) of article 115.1 and of sub-paragraph d) of the Constitution of the Republic, the following to prevail as law:
